Space Gallery: The Escape Artist - Shadowed Views from the Private World of William Noguera.

Comment: William Noguera sits on Death Row at San Quentin Prison. A Death Row existence is mighty cruel on the psyche, and giving up on life is always an option, but Noguera triumphs over his abject adversity by creating remarkable intricate pen and ink stipple drawings-- all kinds, one after another. You can see a great selection here, they're $10K a piece, giclees soon to be available. Perhaps the most compelling part of the show is that it includes an exact replica of Noguera's San Quentin jail cell. Unconditional torment.
