Comment by AB: Art from outside, art from inside... California prisons, that is. You've got sculpture, video, painting, graphic design, and installation-- all of it intended to shed light on this or that aspect of the current Golden State of incarceration. Here's a couple of factoids for you-- if you live in California, chances are you live within five miles of a prison or jail, and in the past ten years, nearly two dozen prisons have been built within the state. We've got the better part of 200,000 individuals right now behind bars.
